Unser wins 500 Classic; turbines fail again

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Robby Unser, a curly-haired, 34-year-old driver from Albuquerque, N. M., roared to his first victory in the Indianapolis 500-mile auto race Thursday with a record speed of 152.882 miles per hour.

Unser, America's hottest driver this year, pulled ahead to stay with 22 1/2 miles remaining in the 52nd classic as a leading turbine failed for the second straight year.

Central battle rages

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. ground and air power was heavily engaged Thursday in the central highlands against a strong North Vietnamese force that has threatened a drive to cut South Vietnam in half.

U.S. 4th Infantry Division troops turned their artillery on charging enemy soldiers and repulsed an attack 11 miles west of Dak To.

The attack, the latest in a series of assaults on American positions astride enemy infiltration routes from Laos and Cambodia, opened with a barrage of rockets, grenades and mortars. The enemy ground assault then hit the American position from all sides.

The U.S. infantrymen opened up with artillery, machine guns and small arms and beat off the attack in three hours of fighting. The U.S. Command said 25 North Vietnamese were killed and there were eight Americans killed and 47 wounded.

U.S. headquarters said that in the last 24 hours B52 Stratofortresses flew 11 missions against enemy troop concentrations in the area about 300 miles north of Saigon. The strikes, by more than 30 of the huge bombers, dropped nearly 1,000 tons of bombs northeast of Dak To and west of Kontum.

About 30 miles north of Dak To, AP correspondent Jeff Williams reported that reinforcements were moved into the Dak Pek Special Forces camp where troops of the 2nd North Vietnamese Division were believed concentrating. Enemy forces in the area are estimated at 15,000 men.

HHH defends youths' rights

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, speaking at a battlefield where thousands of young Americans died more than a century ago, said young men have the right to ask what war-rants "the pitting of youth against youth" in mortal combat in the battles between nations.

The vice president spoke in a drenching rain to only a few hundred persons, including the U.S. Air Force Band, who braved a thunderstorm that broke shortly before Humphrey's appearance at Memorial Day ceremonies at this Civil War battleground.

failed to finish. They were driven by Britain's Graham Hill and by Art Pollard of Medford, Ore.

Dan Gurney of Santa Ana, Calif. placed second, followed by Mel Kenyon of Lebanon, Ind. and Denis Hulme of Australia, the 1967 world champion.

All-American Eagles, built by Gurney, finished first, second and fourth.

Unser, who had won three previous U. S. Auto Club races this season, drove an Eagle owned by Bob Wilke, a Milwaukee businessman.

Eleven cars were running at the finish out of 33 starters. No one was hurt.

School graduation ends in tragedy

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa. (AP) — Six young men and women celebrating high school graduation were killed Thursday when their speeding car left a highway and sailed down a 150-foot embankment into a creek.

The lives snuffed out in the violent crash were those of an honor student and National Merit scholar, two athletes, a tennis player and a girl who danced in high school musicals.

Four of them — Loren Lee Banks, 17, of Avonmore; Wayne Houston Hutcherson, 18, of Coudersport; Charles Nabors III, 17, of North Vandergrift, and Cyn-

Youths shot in Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The mother of one of two Negro youths shot to death during racial disturbances in the city's West End appealed to other parents Thursday to keep their children at home.

"We appeal to everybody to stop this disorder before other mothers and fathers suffer as we are," Mrs. James Groves said at a news conference.

Mrs. Groves met with Police Chief C. J. Hyde, and said he had promised that "a full investigation will be held and justice will be done" in the death of her son, James, 14.

The boy was hit by two shotgun blasts fired by a policeman as he allegedly fled with loot from a store early Thursday.

DeGaulle gains support

Johnson accepts budget cut

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson bowed to an adamant Congress Thursday and grudgingly agreed to accept a $6-billion slash in government spending in return for a $10-billion tax increase.

Johnson told a news conference the tax boost is so urgent he must accept a spending reduction he previously had termed against the national interest. Without the increase, he said, "The gates of economic chaos, I think, could open" and end the nation's unprecedented 87 months of prosperity.

Johnson said also the United States is "ready to go far and fast" with Hanoi and others "to reduce the violence and to build a stable peace in Southeast Asia."

But, from the Paris conference table, Johnson said:

"I cannot report to the American people any substantive progress, nor can I even report that Hanoi has matched our restraint with theirs."

He gave no direct answer when asked whether he plans to reconsider the bombing restrictions in Vietnam.

These were highlights of a fullscale Memorial Day news conference in the luxurious, carpeted, paneled, air-conditioned airplane hanger at the LBJ ranch—a conference at which Johnson also gave roles to Gen. William C. Westmoreland and Australian Prime Minister John G. Gorton.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, and most other congressional leaders were not available immediately for comment on Johnson's concession. Congress is in recess for the Memorial Day weekend.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana has said several times that he expects the Senate to reaffirm its support of the tax increase—spending cut package if the House accepts it.

House Democratic Whip Hale Boggs of Louisiana, a senior member of the Ways and Means Committee, said in Washington Johnson's stand "greatly enhances the prospects for passage."

The Louisiana Democrat said he thinks the President's promise to sign the tax measure will help in getting support from Republicans.

But Rep. John J. Rhodes of Arizona, chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee, said "I think he has got to do more than say he'll sign it."

Rhodes said he thinks Johnson will have to go to work actively to line up Democratic support for the package.

Taking over a lecture embellished with the presidential seal Westmoreland summed up what he said he had reported to Johnson and Gorton, around a cedar picnic table on the front lawn of the ranchhouse earlier.

The U.S. commander in Vietnam, wearing his four-star uniform with its battle ribbons, said that in the last few years a total enemy effort has produced only propaganda victories. But, he said, heavy fighting lies ahead, and while time is on our side, "endurance on the battlefield and patience at home are required."

Navy ends search for message source

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The Navy abandoned a special Atlantic search Thursday for the source of a mysterious voice broadcast that purported to be from the missing nuclear submarine Scorpion.

There was widespread feeling among officers here that the radio transmission may have been a cruel hoax.

Six ships and a search plane picked up the single broadcast at 8:28 p.m. Wednesday.

It was a rather routine statement except that it used the code name for the Scorpion, which has been overdue since Monday and pronounced missing with its crew of 99.

Holiday toll mounts slowly

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Near the end of the first 24 rain-dampened hours of the long Memorial Day weekend, traffic fatalities on the nation's highways mounted slowly Thursday.

An early morning fog added to the traffic hazards from the eastern part of the Midwest to the Northeast. In some widely scattered areas funnel clouds, hail and high winds also plagued motorists.

Traffic accident fatalities stood at 77. An Associated Press survey showed that on a recent four-day nonholiday weekend 488 persons died on the nation's streets and highways.

However, the Scorpion's code name has been used frequently in radio communications between search vessels.

An announcement issued jointly by Atlantic fleet headquarters and the Pentagon in Washington said:

"Throughout last night four destroyers and a patrol aircraft conducted a thorough search for approximately 150 nautical miles east northeast along the reported bearing of the voice transmission which was heard at 8:28 yesterday evening by an aircraft and six ships.

"The transmission was brief and only USS Lapon, 300 nautical miles east of Norfolk, obtained a possible bearing.

"This extensive search failed to discover any evidence of the source of the transmission and was discontinued as a separate effort early this morning."

The Lapon is a nuclear-powered submarine.

Meanwhile the huge sea hunt for the Scorpion continued with the navy shifting focus from the relatively shallow continental shelf—where the submarine might have survived—to the depths eastward—where it is doubtful its hull could withstand the enormous pressures.

The message, as monitored by the Navy, said: "Any station this network: This is (then the code word for Scorpion was given).

Fleet headquarters said there were no Soviet ships, either military or nonmilitary, in that area.

Army may be used to break big strike

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle, apparently assured of the support of France's fighting forces, declared Thursday he will stay in office to combat an attempt by "totalitarian communism" to take over the nation. He hinted he might use the army to break the stranglehold of a general strike by 10 million workers.

Within hours after his speech, Frenchmen in the hundreds of thousands filled the Champs Elysees, Paris' broadest avenue, packing it sidewalk to sidewalk for 1.2 miles with people chanting, shouting and singing "de Gaulle is not alone, 'France, go back to work."

(Related story on page two)

The demonstration, planned in advance but surpassing the expectations of its organizers, seemed to match in size any the leftwing had drummed up during the past two weeks of social convulsion.

It was an expression of support for a leader who had just ordered parliament dissolved and called national elections, but offered no new concessions to students and workers—a position the French Communist party termed "a veritable declaration of war."

The president kept his cabinet in office and retained Premier Georges Pompidou who he said merits the "homage of all." Mass demonstrations had cried for both De Gaulle's and Pompidou's resignation.

Authoritative sources said De Gaulle's tough stance was in part the reflection of assurances of army loyalty and support he received Wednesday during a secret trip to Mulhouse in eastern France. De Gaulle asked for and received pledges from army commanders that their units would oppose any raw attempt by the Communists to take power, the sources reported.

Speaking in clipped sentences, his voice strong, De Gaulle told the nation in a radio address that: "I shall not withdraw." Then the 77-year-old president said he would consider "other means than the immediate elections" if the worker showdown of force continued against his government. One informant said this might be a "state of emergency" or "state of siege" which would permit him to use the army.

This path was opened. Informants said, when De Gaulle traveled to Mulhouse in Alsace on his way to his country retreat at Colombey-les-Deux Eglises, and met with commanders including his son-in-law, Gen. Alain de Boissieu and Gen. Jacques Massu, the tough former paratroop commander in Algeria.

There was no immediate reaction to the general's stand from student or trade union leaders but union leaders immediately broke off negotiations with the government for a strike settlement in the vital electricity and gas industries.

Left-wing politicians were strong in their condemnation: "Gen. de Gaulle is launching a veritable aggression against the working class," said Robert Ballanger, president of the Communist deputy group in the National Assembly.

Francois Mitterrand, leader of the Socialist Federation, said De Gaulle had announced "the attack of an insolent, minority power against the people." De Gaulle's voice, he said, was that of "dictatorship."

The general was taking a calculated risk in calling for national elections.

Talks resume today

PARIS (AP) — The United States and North Vietnam will meet for a sixth time today on Vietnamese peace issues, but the talks may have to be moved from Paris in the next few weeks if France's political agencies worsen.

The United States and North Vietnam so far officially have ignored the French domestic crisis.

The delegations have gone about their business in a world apart from the demonstrations of students and workers and the street battles. But the negotiating teams depend on the French economy for food and services and, so far as is known, rely primarily on French facilities for communications.

A Vatican official, noting the possibility that the conference might have to be moved, said Thursday that Pope Paul's offer of the Vatican as a site is still open.

In advance of Friday's session, there was no evidence in Paris that either side was prepared to modify its position enough to make a breakthrough in the present deadlock.

U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and Ambassador Xuan Thuy of North Vietnam last met on Monday. Following that session, Harriman's deputy, Cyrus R. Vance, returned to Washington and reported to President Johnson.

Johnson subsequently said it was time for the talks to move beyond the propaganda stage and come to grips with real issues.

The central issues include Hanoi's demand that the U.S. end its attacks on Northern territory. The bombing and shelling are now restricted to the panhandle below the 20th Parallel. The United States has demanded that North Vietnam respond with some reduction in military operations. This demand has been rejected.

Hundreds flee Jersey floods

NEWARK (AP) — Several hundred residents in Wayne and Paterson were evacuated from their homes Thursday as the rain-swollen Passaic River continued to rise above flood stage.

Police in Wayne said some areas of the town were under five feet of water.

The river also was spilling over into the streets in East Paterson, West Paterson and Paterson, as some families in the latter two communities have been advised to leave their homes.

'Poor' to resist efforts to close Resurrection City

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bypassed by a holiday throng of visitors bringing food and promises of support, leaders of the Poor People's Campaign promised Thursday to resist any effort to oust them from their Resurrection City encampment.

The federal permit for the camp on the Mall near the Lincoln Memorial expires June 16 and a bill that would forbid any extension has been approved by a House committee.

"If they close down this camp they might have to close down America," said the Rev. Andrew Young, a campaign official, at a news conference in the mud outside the camp's "city hall."

"We're not thinking of going anywhere," he said. "And if they put us in jail there will be as many more coming to take our place. And instead of camping here they might be camping in the lobby of the Willard Hotel."

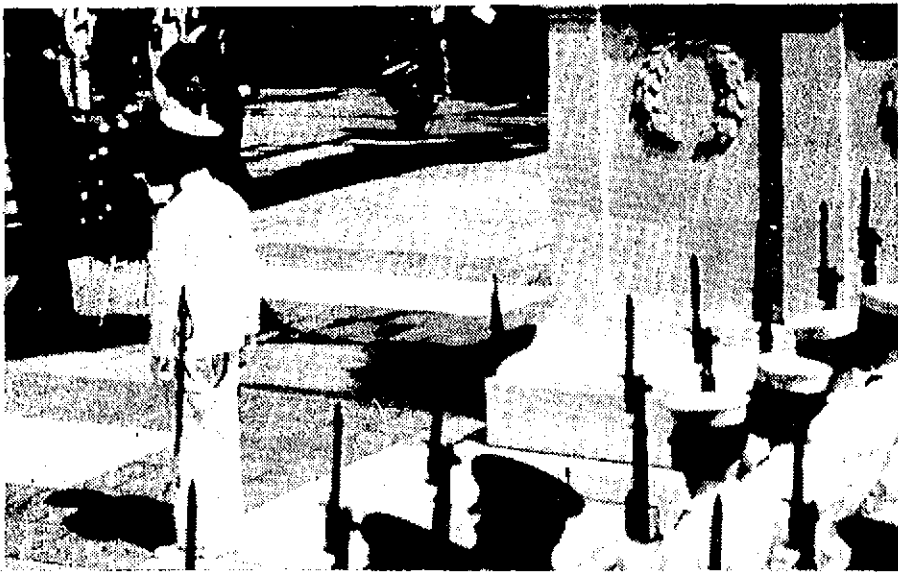

The Willard is one of the capital's leading hotels.

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, which is sponsoring the campaign, sounded a similar resolve to stay put. "We are going to stay until we change Congress," he said, "because Congress is not going to change us."

The bill that would ban any overnight camping on federal or District of Columbia property in the capital has been overwhelmingly approved by the House Public Works Committee. Its sponsors are seeking prompt House action on it.

The rain that has plagued the demonstrators during much of their stay struck a savage blow at the camp just as a Memorial Day concert in honor of the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was getting under way in an uncovered adjoining area.

Peace talk casualty rate higher than Korean period

WASHINGTON (AP) — The newest casualty report from Saigon demonstrates that American battle deaths are running far higher now than during the long light-and-talk phase of the Korean War.

The U.S. Command's announcement Thursday of 426 killed in the week ended May 25 brought to about 3,330 the battle dead in the two months since President Johnson set the stage for the U.S.-North Vietnamese talks at Paris with his March 31 bombing cutback order.

This averages out to more than 400 U.S. combat deaths a week. In the first fortnight since the talks opened in Paris May 10, the U.S. deaths totaled 975—more than 480 a week.

Last year American battle deaths in Vietnam averaged less than 200 a week. The figure soared above 400 a week in February-March after the enemy's Tet offensive.

The step-up of fighting in Vietnam contrasts with the let-down in Korea during the U.S.-Communist negotiations which dragged on for the last two years of the three-year war.

Of the 33,628 U.S. dead in the Korean War 13,230 are listed as having been killed during the first year before the truce talks got under way and 12,700 more as killed during the fight-and-negotiate years. The remaining 7,699 at unknown times.

HOW CLEAN IS OIL HEAT?

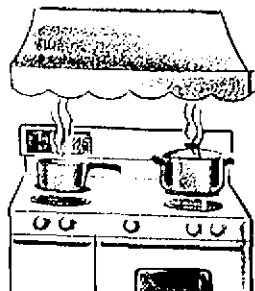

MODERN HEATING OIL IS A CLEAR, ALMOST COLORLESS LIQUID WHEN VAPORIZED IT BURNS WITHIN A SEALED HEATER CHAMBER SO THAT NO PRODUCTS OF COMBUSTION ENTER THE HOME.

GAS HEATING ALSO BURNS WITHIN A SEALED CHAMBER. IT IS JUST AS CLEAN AS OIL. CERTAINLY NO CLEANER THIS IS A SCIENTIFIC FACT.

WHILE ELECTRIC HEAT BURNS NO FUEL, IT IS NOT ANY CLEANER THAN OIL OR GAS HEAT. IN FACT, THE HIGHER SURFACE TEMPERATURES OF ELECTRIC HEATING ELEMENTS CREATE STRONG WARM AIR CURRENTS. THESE CURRENTS, IN TURN, AGITATE DIRT AND DUST AND RESULT IN WALL AND CEILING STREAKING. THE FILM THAT ACCUMULATES ON LIGHT BULBS IS A GOOD EXAMPLE OF THIS DUST AGITATION FROM A HOT SOURCE.

THUS, ALL MODERN HEATING SYSTEMS START OUT CLEAN. THE INTENSITY OF WARM AIR CURRENTS CREATED BY THE HEAT SOURCE DETERMINES THE DEGREE OF DUST AGITATION AND RESULTANT DUST SETTLEMENT IN YOUR HOME. CLEAN AIR FILTERS AND PROPER COOKING RANGE VENTING WILL MINIMIZE THE "DIRTY" PROBLEM IN YOUR HOME.

Frenchmen begin riot backlash

PARIS (AP) — The quiet Frenchmen struck back, hard, Thursday in a massive and impressive demonstration for President Charles de Gaulle. It could mark the beginning of a backlash against the elements which have brought this nation to the edge of paralysis.

Related story on page one

By hundreds of thousands they poured into the broad and elegant Avenue des Champs Elysees, a sea of people and French flags. They packed the avenue for the entire mile and a half from across the Place de la Concorde to the Arch de Triomphe.

It was all for De Gaulle, a demonstration which rivaled any that have been held in this turbulent capital since the beginning of the crisis which has idled something close to 10 million workers.

The watching crowds packing the sidewalks along the way cheered lustily and there was an unmistakable excitement in the air. Flags decked buildings along the route and people crowded the roofs and windows of the buildings to look on and applaud.

The vast crowd chanted De Gaulle slogans and sang the Marseillaise with a fervor recalling the days of France's glory.

There were young and old in the march, people from all walks of life, but mostly they were representatives of France's solid middle class who had just heard De Gaulle on the radio saying that this nation faced the menace of a Communist dictatorship. The way De Gaulle said it, was virtually a declaration of war on the Communists, and the crowd responded with enthusiasm.

"Cohn-Bendit go home," said one of the banners carried by the marchers. Daniel Cohn-Bendit, called Danny the Red, is a German-Jewish student leader who slipped back into France at the height of the crisis. He has been a leading figure in a rebellion of a minority of university students from which burgeoned the wave of work stoppages and the creeping paralysis of a nation.

As the marchers swept by a corner where the British Overseas Airways Corp. has its offices, they noted with delight that the building was decorated in the French national colors, and giving the wartime Churchillian "V" for victory sign with their fingers, they broke into loud hurrahs.

"Les Communistes ne passeront pas," shouted the marchers in union: "the communists shall not pass," a slogan which brought back memories of World War I, when "they shall not pass" expressed the French defiance of the Germans.

"Peace in France with De Gaulle," said one banner, preceded by a huge portrait of the 77-year-old general. "Participation Yes, Anarchy No," said another. "Enough of Violence," said others.

Five county poultry farm production no chicken-feed

HARRISBURG — Poultry farmers in the five-county northern tier sector produced $5,331,000 in eggs and poultry meat in a one-year period with Wayne and Monroe Counties practically tied in their combined total of production which exceeds $3.5 million, it was made known at Harrisburg by Sen. T. Newell Wood.

Poultry production in Senator Wood's district ranks high with area farmers producing 9,976,000 pounds of poultry meat valued at $2,177,000. The value of eggs produced in this area, according to Senator Wood, exceeds $3.1 million.

Senator Wood said he has studied annual reports from the state department of agriculture which indicate the five-county area of Pike, Wayne, Monroe, Susquehanna and Wyoming counties, had 460 farms with 552,350 poultry. This poultry population includes all chickens and turkeys but not commercial broilers. The inventory value is estimated at $960,000.

Monroe shades Wayne
Monroe, in first position with a combined total of $1,444,000 in the production of eggs and poultry meat, shades its neighboring Wayne County by only $2,000, Senator Wood observed. Wayne, however, has the highest number of farms with 150 against 126 for Monroe.

Wayne has a wide lead over Monroe in egg production, the senator added. The value of Wayne's egg production is $1,489,000 to $424,000 for Monroe.

Wayne tops inventory
Wayne County leads by far in the number of poultry and inventory value, but takes second place to Monroe in the production of meat poultry. Figures released by Senator Wood disclose that Wayne has a poultry population of 262,300 with an inventory value of $432,300. Susquehanna is second in the number of poultry with Monroe in third place. Monroe's inventory value is second high with $198,200 against Susquehanna's $160,700.

When it comes to the production of poultry meat, Senator Wood explained that Monroe better than doubles the Wayne figures. Monroe produced 5,201,000 pounds valued at $1,420,000. Wayne's production is 2,139,000 pounds with a valuation of $553,000.

Senator Wood pointed out an interesting observation noting that the average value of production per farm is $12,208. Against this figure, Pike County, which ranks fifth in the overall production, has the highest farm average with $18,400. Monroe is second showing an average of $15,367.

Reports for 1967 are being compiled on a state-wide basis, but during the previous year, it was shown that poultrymen received an average of 42 cents per dozen for eggs sold through all marketing outlets. This was the highest price since 1958.

The state's chicken population was 19,299,000 with an estimated valuation of $29,913,000. Pennsylvania poultrymen produced 3,205,000,000 eggs, a six per cent decline over the previous year.

Commercial broiler growers raised 43,983,000 meat birds with a live weight of 171,534,000. At 16.5 cents per pound it was the second lowest price.

Farmers respond
This is the fourth of a series of articles prepared by Senator Wood reviewing agriculture, livestock and dairy farming in previous articles.

The senator said he has received a heavy volume of mail from area farmers who indicated keen interest in the reports. Many of the farmers, Senator Wood observed, stated the reports were "bringing the progress of the farm industry closer to home."

Following is the breakdown of poultry production in the five county area:

Area Memorial Day services

Milford

Although they barely finished their activities when the rain started, Milford veterans and patriotic organizations enjoyed fine weather for their Memorial Day Activities.

The program, which was held in the morning, embraced a parade, Memorial services at the Kennedy Triangle and special services in the cemetery in which only the veterans organizations participated.

The activities were under the joint sponsorship of Marsch-Kellogg Post 139, American Legion and Mountain Laurel Post, 8612, Veterans of Foreign Wars. Participating in the line of march were the auxiliary units of the two posts, Boy and Girl scouts, Cubs, Brownies and school children. Music was furnished by members of Delaware Valley High School Band.

Prior to the parade at Milford, the local organization participated in services at Dingmans Ferry. The Angle-Smith American Legion Post of that village and their auxiliary also took part in the parade at Milford.

The parade formed at the new veterans home on Broad St., proceeded south on Broad to Harford and east on Harford to the Kennedy Triangle. Alvin Matthey, commander of Marsch-Kellogg Post was in charge of the program at the Triangle which included flag raising and the placing of wreaths.

Also participating in the program were Rev. Wayne Cramsey, Milford Methodist Church and Rev. Lyle Patterson of the Bible Protestant Church. The latter delivered the Memorial Day address.

Roseto

A record crowd attended Memorial Day services 11 a.m. Thursday in the Roseto Town Hall. Under a clear sky, a record crowd also attended services at the New Catholic Cemetery 9 a.m. the Presbyterian Cemetery at 9:30 a.m. and the Catholic Cemetery adjacent to Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church at 10 a.m.

Domenick DeFranco, elementary supervisor for the Bangor Area School District, delivered the main address. DeFranco spoke on Americanism and stressed the need for love of self and country.

Conducted by the Martocci-Capohiano Post 750, American Legion, the Memorial Day service was also highlighted by several selections played by the Roseto Cornet Band.

Mayor George Giacquinto was master of ceremonies. The Rev. Gemaro J. Leone, pastor of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church gave the invocation and the Rev. Charles Parsons, pastor of the Presbyterian Church gave the benediction.

Bangor

Services in Bangor were highlighted by placing a wreath on the grave of Lt. Harold Dietz in St. Johns John's Cemetery by Lt. Col. Herbert Frye of Bethlehem. For the past 29 years, Lt. Col. Frye landed at the cemetery by helicopter. Dietz was killed in an Army plane crash at Easton Airport in 1938.

The Rev. Albert W. Kovacs, pastor of St. John's E & R U.C.C. Church gave the featured address. Jan Collins, senior at Bangor Area High School, recited Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address" while Donna Mensch, another Bangor High senior, recited "Flanders Field."

Philip Ruggiero, Assemblyman from the 137th Rep. District was master of ceremonies for the 10 a.m. service. The Rev. Andrew J. Stauffer, pastor of the Mt. Bethel Lutheran Parish gave the invocation and the benediction.

The Bangor Area High School Band played several selections.

A parade was held preceding the services with the following groups participating: police department, borough officials, Gold Star Mothers, Yellow Jackets Drum and Bugle Corps, Bangor Area High School Band, the Boleros, firing squad of Dyle E. Bray Post and the Sons of Union Veterans, Sons of Legion and the Girl and Boy Scout Troops.

What comes first... industry or labor?

Scholars for centuries have been trying to decide which came first—the chicken or the egg?

One of the biggest problems of our time, especially in Monroe County, is the answer to which comes first—population or industry?

Right now the Bureau of Employment Security Office in Stroudsburg is in desperate need of workers to fill the orders by current industry.

In fact, as of April of this year, only 1.4 per cent of the civilian work force was unemployed, an improvement from 3.3 per cent in February. It is also an improvement from the 1.8 per cent mark of April 1967.

Total estimated employment in Monroe County is at 21,000, or 200 better than the mid-February employment level of 20,800. Employment in the area one year ago was estimated at 21,600.

Manufacturing industries and farm employment displayed gains in jobs filled, while non-manufacturing and self-employed industries remained constant.

Manufacturing industries currently have an estimated employment list of 5,300 individuals, an increase of 100 workers during the past two months. This gain was reportedly brought about by an employment increase of 100 workers in the apparel industry, as other manufacturing lines held steady.

Farm employment rises

Farm employment is currently at the 500 mark, or a gain of 100 since mid-February. Employment in non-manufacturing industries and the self-employed, unpaid family and domestic workers' group is at 13,100 and 2,100 respectively, and has remained constant during the past two months.

The good news in the entire package of statistics is the fact that the 300 currently unemployed people is 400 less than the mid-February mark of 700. The decline in unemployment and the expansion of employment has shown a decrease of 1.9 per cent in unemployment since the middle of February. The mark is also 0.4 per cent lower than April of 1967.

As the unemployment figures in Monroe County declined, the number of persons filing claims for unemployment compensation during the middle of April reached 180, or 204 less than the 384 people who staked similar claims during a comparable week in February.

Claims filed for unemployment compensation during the middle week of April in 1967 numbered 203 or 23 above the current mid-April tabulation.

Resort industry needs

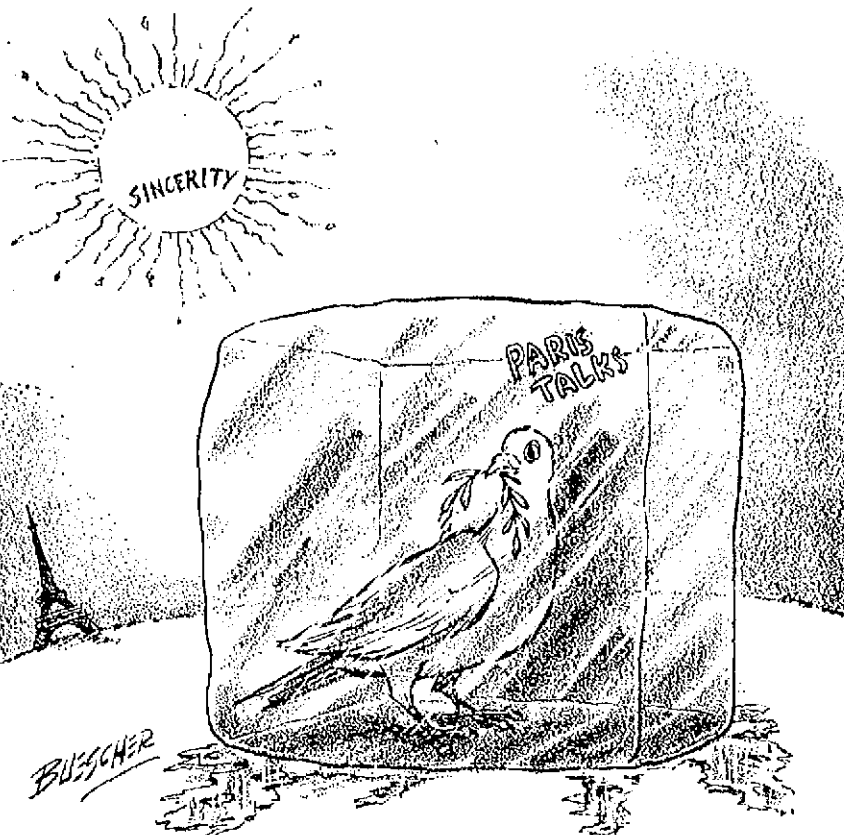

The Pocono Mountains continues to be in serious need of workers in year-round hotels, long-season motels and short-season hotels. Some of these needs include clerks, cooks, bakers, kitchen help, maids, waiters and waitresses.

John P. Dougherty, manager of the Bureau of Employment Security, has stated that industry in the area is currently waging a sincere search for factory trainees, who can quickly master a trade or become skilled labor. Industry is badly in need of skilled, semi-skilled and trainees for both divisions of the labor market.

The labor market statistics indicate two major factors in our growing economy. We are greatly in need of an expanded work force, where new industry can obtain workers. However, we are also one of the best employed areas in Pennsylvania, although lacking in skilled and semi-skilled laborers.

The 1.4 per cent mark in unemployment is even more remarkable when one considers the fact that there are a certain number of people in every area who wouldn't work, even if positions were offered.

But, we will have to answer that troublesome question if we are to navigate the road to a successful future. What comes first, the work force or new industry?

How hot is the sun?

New problem for marchers

Paul Scott

WASHINGTON — The so-called "poor people" marchers are being challenged on a new score — that could lead to legal proceedings against them.

Rep. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., citing the marchers' loudly intoned lobbying operations and tactics, demanded they be required to register under the Lobbying Act.

Gurney, a member of the Education and Labor Committee that has jurisdiction over anti-poverty legislation and that is conducting hearings on proposals to deal with malnutrition, charged the marchers are admittedly violating the lobbyist registration law. As the law makes no exceptions, he contended there is no reason it should not be enforced against them.

Reinforcing Gurney's stand, two influential senators warned that the government will encounter serious difficulty in requiring the marchers to vacate their makeshift "Resurrection City" on June 16, the expiration of the Interior Department's permit.

Sen. Robert Byrd, D-W. Va., chairman of the Appropriations Subcommittee in charge of the District of Columbia's half-billion dollar-plus annual budget, stated he had voiced such misgivings directly to President Johnson, Attorney General Ramsey Clark and Interior Secretary Udall. Byrd strongly advised against either renewal of the permit or the authorization to use additional space.

"I have no objection whatsoever to people coming to the nation's capital to petition their government," said Byrd, "but I feel that it was a serious mistake for the government to issue a permit which allowed for the creation of this powderkeg within the nation's capital. Also I believe that in the long run the federal government may find it more difficult to get these people out of the city than the difficulty which may have been encountered in preventing them from setting up their shantytown in the beginning."

Gurney contended that Rev. Ralph

Abernathy, leader of the "poor people" marchers, is indisputably a lobbyist and should be required to register as one.

"This nation's foundation and its future rest on the rule of law," said Gurney, "and if the law is to mean anything, it must apply equally to all. I therefore ask when will Rev. Abernathy be required to register as a lobbyist. Certainly there can be no question that he is engaged in lobbying, and so are the so-called marchers."

"If other individuals and groups are governed by the lobbyist law, so must Abernathy and his group. That is the least the American taxpayer should be granted since it is the taxpayer who will have to pay for what this group is 'lobbying' for."

"I hold to the old-fashioned belief that the law should apply to everyone alike; that there should be no discrimination in the application of the law. So ask, is this going to be another case of some people being able to disobey those laws they do not like, and obey only those they want to."

"If Abernathy is required to file reports, then the American people can determine his sources of income and the amount of his expenditures, just as the public can determine this information in regard to other lobbying groups. It is time we know whether this law is going to be enforced or disregarded for the benefit of a special group."

Sen. Frank Lauterbach, D-O., echoed Senator Byrd's warning of likely difficulty in getting rid of the marchers.

"The Interior Department was of the belief that trouble could be avoided by allowing these people to set up a shantytown on the Mall," said Lauterbach. "Officials of the Department did not dare to face up to the problem. I state with the greatest belief in the positiveness of my judgment that when these marchers are told to move out, they will refuse, and then will come the crucial period of what the government will do."

Troubles with telephones

WASHINGTON — A friend of ours who lives in California reports that he's had to have his telephone taken out. And he says maybe it will stay out until after the general elections in November.

"I tell you," he said, "it rang morning, night and noon. First, it was the Kennedy people, three or four of them a day, calling to urge us to vote for Bobby in the primary. Then it was the college kids, calling for McCarthy. One of them even had the nerve to complain to me that our line was busy all the time."

"When I explained to the McCarthy people that probably I was on the telephone to some other political organization, the McCarthy caller said, 'Aha! So that's Bobby's tactic... not only is he soliciting your vote, he's trying to tie up your telephone so you can't talk to anyone else. He IS ruthless!'"

"After that, the McCarthy crowd started calling us several times a day. The Kennedy office sent us a telegram — I guess they couldn't get through — offering to install another telephone for us, if we promised not to list the telephone number and to reserve it for calls from them."

Flies over house

"But that's not all. You see, I'm a Democrat, but my wife is a Republican. So, while the Democrats, including Johnson-Humphrey supporters, were trying to call me, the Republicans were desperately attempting to telephone my wife. Sen. Kuchel's office got through a few times, but Raftery, his opponent, finally had to resort to flying over the house and dropping a message. I said, 'Call us — we can't call you.'"

"In the middle of all this, the pollsters were calling. Every candidate, even the ones for local offices, seem to have their own private pollsters at work. We must be on some list of 'typical voters,' because the pollsters drove us crazy. And if you didn't give the right answers, they tried to get you to change your opinion."

"Just before we had our telephone number changed, a man called and said, 'Hi, there. I'm with the School of Ballroom Dancing, Ballet and Frug. If you can tell us the date of the War of 1812, you win a free lesson.'"

"But even the unlisted number didn't help. The political candidates all have volunteers who work at the telephone company. Somehow, they got our unlisted number. So, yesterday, I had the phone taken out. I'm calling you from a booth."

The Poor People's Crusade here was practically rained out. We're waiting for Rev. Ralph Abernathy to charge Congress with seeding the clouds.

Whatever happened to Twiggy? Maybe she got so thin, she disappeared.

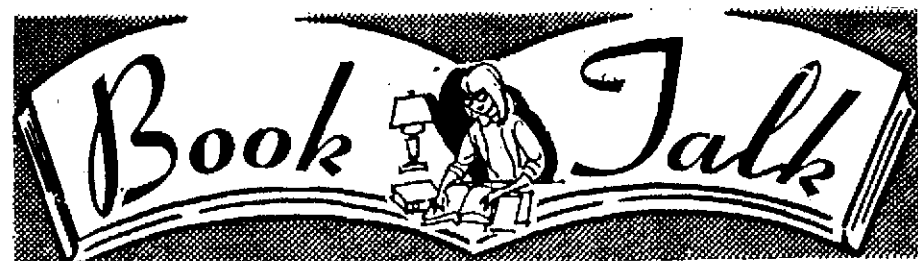

Judging from the pictures, students in Paris have damaged that city more than the Germans did.

India says it'll be growing enough wheat by 1971 to feed its population. Perhaps. By then, due to mass starvation, India's population may be considerably less.

If the Vietnam war ends, many Saigon officials may move to Switzerland — just to be near their money.

One reason LBJ quit: He's so disenchanted with the public he feels he DESERVE to have Bobby as President.

There's only one person who can stay the Communist menace and solve the world's financial crisis at the same time: Daddy Warbucks, where are you?

Story of imagination

The Mermaid in the Swimming Pool, by Douglass Wallop (Norton, $4.95.)

Once upon a time, in the suburbs of Washington, there dwelt a Middle-Aged Hardware Merchant Whose Wife Did Not Understand Him. So he drank a lot...

Douglass Wallop's story does not begin in that way, but it might very well have. Like his earlier "The Year the Yankees Lost the Pennant" (dramatized as "Damn Yankees"), this is a fantasy about the middle class American's yearning for escape.

The title tells the substance of the story. Frank Coleman and his wife, Kay, have just installed a swimming pool of which they are very proud at their handsome suburban home. Coleman becomes doubly interested in an evening in July, when Mona the Mermaid suddenly materializes under the diving board.

Mona, and the expeditions she takes Coleman on — far beyond the confines of the swimming pool — lend a new interest to his 47-year-old life, and make women more interested in him (or is that as illusory as Mona)?

Although it is apparent that Coleman's adventures with Mona are a figment of his alcoholic imagination, they have a bearing on his real life and on the marriage which, by the end of the book, appears to be on the mend.

Doug Anderson

Frighteningly cruel

Last Summer. By Evan Hunter. Doubleday, $4.95.

The idea that the adolescent years bring out an innate cruelty and viciousness of the human animal has been given literary treatment on several occasions, usually with boys as the examples. Golding's "Lord of the Flies" is the most obvious specimen.

Hunter has seized upon a theme in which the female adolescent is more deadly than the male.

The scene is an island summer resort. There are two boys, Peter (narrator of the story) and David, and a girl named Sandy. They are teen-age conspirators against adulthood and life.

The story is developed adeptly in two parallel parts. In the first, Sandy rescues an injured seagull, trains it as a pet — an innocent pet, but also a prisoner — and then without explanation kills it brutally.

In the second part, the trio takes up with another teen-ager, Rhoda, who is a somewhat frightened "square," in a sense as innocent and natural as the seagull. Sandy, instead of destroying Rhoda directly, goads the two boys into doing so.

It is a grim story, frightening in its realism — it has a resounding ring of authenticity — and it carries a narrative punch.

Filtering hucksters

THE GOLDEN GEESE. By Everard Meade. Dodd, Mead, $4.95.

As all the nation's hottest hucksters assemble at White Sulphur Springs for a convention, the center of attention and gossip is a tobacco magnate named Hiram Ramb, who is about to put a new cigarette on the market.

One nervy advertising man, Keith Morgan, is plotting to take the new account away from Ramb's current agency, represented by Walpole Twitchey.

Upon this scene comes Tom Minor, once one of Madison Avenue's hair-haired boys, who a couple of years ago had hit the skids, bounced some checks and left the country. Now, putting on a real four-flusher front with an expired credit card, he boldly makes a play to get a job with tycoon Ramb, who had always been friendly.

Morgan offers Minor a fat bonus if he will influence Ramb to give him the new cigarette account. Will Minor be tempted?

This novel is a picture of advertising's celebrated high-pressure maneuvering, not in its normal business habitat, but against the background of a three-day, circus-like meeting. There is some comic byplay, poking fun at advertising's sacred cows and self-adulation, and the atmosphere sounds convincing. The story's implausibilities tend to become plausible in the midst of its amusing twists.

Comedy in Italy

KEEPERS OF THE OBELISK. By Howard Shaw. (Holt, Rinehart and Winston, $4.95.)

One of those charming comedies about Italian village life currently represented in the literary field principally by Robert Crichton's "The Secret of Santa Vittoria." This is an area, however, to which Howard Shaw established a prior claim with his well-received 1959 novel, "The Crime of Giovanni Venturi."

This time Shaw is concerned with an Egyptian obelisk uncovered in the obscure Sabine village of Regina Coeli in the course of excavations intended primarily to locate a broken water main.

The obelisk is initially scorned by the government department of antiquities, but the villagers take considerable pride in it. Their efforts to preserve it — and subsequent government efforts to locate it when it proves unusual — provide the substance of the story.

The principal conflict is between Cesare Zingabelli, the bureaucrat to end all bureaucrats, and his father-in-law, Andrea Robotti, one of the most engaging scoundrels in current fiction.

Another prominent and amusing character is Massimo Orsini, keeper of Regina Coeli's winery, an ex-Communist who remains an unreconstructed rebel. Prof. Nicola Pamfredoni of the antiquities department also is lots of fun.

"Obelisk" is a very funny spoof of bureaucracy as it is in Italy, and as it could be almost anywhere.

Negative income tax

WASHINGTON — A most radical idea is attracting quite notable conservative backing.

There is impressive conservative support for a negative income tax to provide guaranteed minimum annual income for the very poor.

This is no Republican scheme to slash Federal spending, to cut back the role of the Federal government, or to shunt responsibilities for the poor to the states.

It is a new and different way to deal with the whole social welfare area — so different that many liberals look askance at it because it upsets their old ways of thinking, their old ways of doing things.

Conservatives seem to be more open-minded about it — perhaps because they have been out of office in Washington so much since 1933 that they have little intellectual or political vested interest in the status quo of Federal programs and can embrace change with greater ease.

As Daniel P. Moynihan, former Assistant Secretary of Labor, has pointed out, it is his fellow Democratic liberals who have become moored to the past and have a hard time bringing themselves to open their minds to new ways of doing things.

Chief supporters

Instead, it is men like Rep. Melvin Laird of Wisconsin, one of the most influential conservative Republicans in Congress, and Dr. Milton Friedman, economics professor at the University of Chicago and an adviser to Barry Goldwater in the 1964 campaign, who are doing most to promote the negative income tax.

Laird gives prominence to a favorable discussion of the plan in a book he is supervising on Republican positions on major issues, to be published soon.

Markin time

There's so much greed where e're we go,
So many hearts are hard as stone.

Yet they who walk in love can know
That they will never walk alone.

He lost his teeth, he lost his hair.
When running, he was out of breath.

He got himself a rocking chair
And rocked himself to death.

Luther Markin

The negative income tax would supplant present welfare programs, including their bureaucratic costs. Payments would be based on family size and income.

If a family earned less than a fixed "poverty line" income, it would receive only a percentage (say 50 per cent) of the difference between its income and the poverty line, thus providing an incentive to earn more.

Under a 50 per cent rate, for example, individuals or families whose taxable income falls below a certain amount, say $3,000 a year, would be entitled to a negative income tax that represents half of the difference between their taxable income and $3,000. Thus, a family of four whose taxable income is $1,500 would get $750 in Federal payment under the plan. If that family's income were zero, under the 50 per cent rate it would be entitled to $1,500.

Welfare replacement

Speaking with the prestige of his post as chairman of the House Republican Conference, Laird recently called the negative income tax "one of the more promising proposals for replacing our present hodge-podge of welfare programs."

It is attractive, he said, "because it would concentrate public funds on those who are actually poor and would provide a better incentive for people to get out of welfare."

In the Laird book of "Republican papers," Friedman views present welfare programs as "costly and inefficient and destructive of incentive" because for every dollar earned by a relief recipient a dollar is taken away from him unless he succeeds in concealing his earnings.

Under the negative income tax the incentive to earn would be stronger. Friedman believes that ending present welfare programs (which are a form of guaranteed annual income) would save enough to pay for the costs of the negative income tax.

Will it work? With the approval of Congress, the University of Wisconsin and the war on poverty office will try out the plan on a small scale in a few New Jersey cities for about three years.

Maybe then we'll know. In any event, credit the conservatives with open-mindedness.

Courage in hospital

What is it about hospitals that bring out a person's humanness? I know of a friend who was so shy she blindfolded her rubber duck when she took a shower. Yet, during a two week's stay in the hospital she was summoning strangers in from the corridors to discuss her bladder functions.

It doesn't seem to matter who you are... whether you are Cary Grant releasing daily reports to the press on how you slept or President Johnson pulling up his shirt and baring his gallbladder operation scar to a breathless nation... being sick is a great stabilizer.

Years ago when I was having a brief stay in the hospital, our ward admitted a frail flower who wasn't used to the earthiness of medical life. She was a weirdo, all right. She liked to bathe alone. She wanted a dressing gown that covered her... coming and going. And she got pretty shook everytime a strange man walked into the room, threw back her covers and shouted, "Well, what have we here?"

One day as I was showing my incision to a group of Girl Scouts who were touring the hospital on a field trip, Evelyn (the frail flower), prepared to get out of bed. Her knees bent, she crouched along the floor, flanked by a newspaper shielding her front, while she guarded the rear with her medical chart. She looked like a stripper who had lost her nerve.

At that moment, on the loudspeaker over her bed boomed a voice, "Are you still having gas, Mrs. Wimsatt?" Evelyn paled even more and answered meekly, "I'd like to discuss it in privacy later."

We tried to explain to Evelyn that things in a hospital were quite basic. We were sharing an intimate experience with one another and with it comes a camaraderie that servicemen must feel when they share a foxhole with someone for two weeks or so. Without one another, you would never survive.

From that day forward, she became one of the girls. She bathed during visiting hours. She stopped pulling the blinds after dark and she even learned how to walk tall in a hospital gown.

One day as I was walking down the hallway, I caught sight of Evelyn standing at a pay phone. "I'm calling some of my friends," she announced, "to tell them that I've just had my first sneeze after surgery and I survived it."

"They'll be thrilled," I smiled.

Evelyn raised her arms to deposit her coin and I knew Evelyn had over-adjusted to hospital immobility.

PBES features two keynotes

STROUDSBURG — "Job development and placement are the keynotes of Pennsylvania's Bureau of Employment Security," John P. Dougherty, manager of the bureau's Stroudsburg office, declared that "hit or miss job hunting is wasteful."

He said that through its various job placement activities, the Employment Security Bureau is able to reduce the waste of both trial and error job hunting and labor recruiting.

"The Bureau's Employment Service is a two-way employment exchange," Dougherty asserted. "It tries to find the right job for the man and the right man for the job."

According to the bureau official, many facets of the BES program are brought into play in attempting to achieve this goal. Job opportunities are listed with descriptions of the various requirements, including education, training, experience, etc. Prospective workers are registered, interviewed, counseled and tested before referral to employers.

Dougherty stated that through its vast Clearance Program, the Bureau is able to match persons with specific skills to jobs requiring these skills.

Candlelight installation for WSCS

STROUDSBURG — A candlelight installation marked the Women's Society of the Arlington-Wesley United Methodist Church, with Mrs. James Canfield presiding. A large white candle and ten small red candles represented the "light of the Apostles," and each officer received a small lighted candle.

Mrs. James Owens presided at the business meeting when $600 was allotted for purchase of furniture for the new parsonage.

A strawberry festival will be held at the church on Saturday, June 15, from 5 to 8 p.m.

The executive committee will meet at the Owens home on June 27 to arrange the programs for the coming year. Monthly meetings will be discontinued until September.

A play, "Two in a Trap," was presented by Mrs. Claude Arnold and Mrs. Merlin Ruit, featuring two women trapped in an elevator, one affluent, the other poverty-stricken. After the play, the audience was divided into discussion groups to answer the question, "What can I do as an individual? What can this WSCS do as a society?"

David Ward served as moderator for the general discussion. Refreshments were served.

And maybe they have had in the same incredible way. Although I'll admit that, after three hours, I was glad for hot chocolate and a warm house. How congenial I'd be after three weeks, I doubt.

So while I've been vicariously suffering with the Poor People, maybe I shouldn't have. Whatever my opinion on the legality or the wisdom of their encampment, I kept hoping that, having gone so far from home under such confusing circumstances, they at least would have a good time.

The miracle was that any of the jumpers could clear the jumps, considering they had to pull their hoots out of the mud like plungers out of a stopped-up sink. The very elegant lady driving an elegant hackney not only got a lapful of mud but a face-ful.

The prestigious boxes, which got the full force of the hurricane, were occupied by two lone dogwaggers. The rest of the audience shared plastic sheets, blankets and umbrellas. Vi Jones, who had been scheduled to ride that night, wouldn't risk her horse, but she and Dr. Freddie and a group of friends were risking pneumonia cheering on their friends who did.

Just Between Us—

By Bobby Westbrook

Well, a lot of rich people (well, rich enough to afford horse show tickets) had a taste of what the Poor People are experiencing in a Washington that in the May storms seems rapidly to be returning to the swamp on which it was built. The ring at the Devon horse show on Tuesday night looked more like a hog wallow.

The miracle was that any of the jumpers could clear the jumps, considering they had to pull their hoots out of the mud like plungers out of a stopped-up sink. The very elegant lady driving an elegant hackney not only got a lapful of mud but a face-ful.

Bake sale

Choose one pattern free — clip coupon in new Spring-Summer Pattern Catalog. 100 styles, all sizes. Send 50 cents.

The weird thing about the whole uncomfortable set-up was that everybody seemed to be having a wonderful time. Perfect strangers became fast friends before the night was over. There's nothing wrong with fair-weather friends, but foul weather makes friends faster.

So while I've been vicariously suffering with the Poor People, maybe I shouldn't have. Whatever my opinion on the legality or the wisdom of their encampment, I kept hoping that, having gone so far from home under such confusing circumstances, they at least would have a good time.

Ann Landers

A lesson learned

Dear Ann Landers: Jack and I were married for 18 years. I nearly went into shock when he asked me for a divorce to marry another woman. How true is that old expression, "The wife is always the last to know?"

I agreed to the divorce at once, figuring it was pointless to try to hang on to him if he didn't want me. We were divorced within a short period of time but somehow he never got around to moving out of the house.

Jack seems to be going out less and less. Although I know he is still seeing the other woman he takes me to dinner once or twice a week and does the little things around the house that a husband is supposed to do. I am still very much in love with him and I am sure he knows it.

Last night I came right out and asked Jack when he was going to get married. He replied, "I don't think I'll ever remarry."

I have no right to ask Jack to stop seeing the other woman because he is no longer my husband, but it kills me when he goes out with her. Please tell me how to get this terrible mess straightened out.

FISH NOR FOUL

Dear Fish: Welcome to the club. Another idiot woman who gave her husband a divorce just because he asked for it. You should have told Jack you wanted a trial separation and invited him to move out at once. Had you done so he would probably have crawled back on his hands and knees.

Pack Jack's clothes and tell him he can come back only if he wants to live in a respectable manner. And, this means marriage.

If you have trouble getting along with your parents, if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom." Send 50¢ in coin with your request and a long, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Ann Landers: My marriage was grand until my husband's ex-wife rediscovered him. When they were man and wife she never cooked a decent meal. The beds weren't made from one week to the next, his socks had holes in them and she charged him five dollars for a kiss.

He has been seeing his ex every weekend for the past month while I've been sitting home with our two small children. She leaves gloves, lipstick and initialed handkerchiefs in the car so I'll find them. When I said I refused to stand for any more foolishness he yelled, "This is my house. Leave if you don't like it." What shall

I do?

FED UP

Dear Fed: You both need counseling. If he refuses to go, go yourself.

The house is not his and you don't have to leave. He might have to leave. However, if you decided to see a lawyer. And if it comes to that, tell him you want to hear from him every week — even if it's only a check.

What is French kissing? Is it wrong? Who should set the necking limits — the boy or the girl? Can a shotgun wedding succeed? Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-age sex — Ten Ways To Cool It." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper.

Special beat highlights Panama church services

PANAMA (AP) — On Sunday mornings, at church time, the little suburb of San Miguelito stirs with the haunting Afro-Caribbean beat of a cumbia lenta.

From a green hilltop come the voices of men, women and children raised in song: "Vamos, señores, vamos, vamos a la misa ... Come, sirs, come, come to the Mass; come, friends, come, come to the Mass."

Softly, a bongo drum and two guitars provide tonal background to the summings.

Without the words, the sound of the cumbia lenta, a Panamanian folkloric dance rhythm, could be coming from a late-closing dance hall or an early party.

But these are the sounds of a Roman Catholic service at the Church of Christ the Redeemer; tribal sounds, yet modern-new as the golden morning. They are an integral part of a dramatic reform, quietly, slowly overtaking traditions of the Roman Catholic Church in Latin America.

The modern Mass, or "misa tipica," is relatively new to Panama although variations have been introduced in Mexico, Argentina, Brazil, Chile and Colombia. Priests have brought it to some areas in almost clandestine fashion, like smuggled goods.

Behind the innovation is the hope that by modernizing the ritual and liturgy, by making the service more contemporary and relating it to the local culture, the Church will revive its popular appeal.

"It's part of the Church's own effort to get out of the old centuries and into the new one," says the Rev. Leo Mahon, 42, of Chicago. "The liturgy as it now stands is pretty useless. It reflects the monastic mentality of the Renaissance."

Mrs. Hazel Miller devotes 44 years to teaching career

By PETE GRADY
Pocono Record Reporter

TOBYHANNA — "She always taught pupils rather than subjects," Monroe County school superintendent Walter Sebring said Tuesday in summing up a Coolbaugh Elementary teacher's 44 years of devotion to children from kindergarten to the eighth grade.

Roger Miller, Coolbaugh's principal couldn't recall a warmer individual with more compassion for children.

Mrs. Hazel Miller didn't want to be a teacher, she wanted to be a nurse. But when she graduated from high school the county superintendent John Yetter told her the county needed teachers. She agreed and Yetter issued her an emergency certificate.

"I didn't think I'd make teaching my career but here I am," said Mrs. Miller who retires this year after teaching 35 years in the Pocono Mountain School District plus nine years in area elementary schools.

Initial assignment

Her first teaching assignment was in Butz Run School, Meisertown, a one-room schoolhouse, grades one-through eight. One of her pupils was an 18-year-old boy. "There was no disciplinary problem back then," Mrs. Miller said. "The parents cooperated."

But she was quick to admit that today's world of stress and strain with quite a few of her pupils' parents both working presents greater problems for pupils and parents alike.

After two years at Butz Run School she taught fourth grade at Tobyhanna Township school, Pocono Lake for five years; one year at Tunkhannock Township, Long Pond; a year at Lake Ariel and 35 years teaching the fifth and sixth grades at Coolbaugh elementary.

In 1932 at Coolbaugh she taught 57 fifth and sixth grade pupils. "We produced a lot of good material," she said even though the pupil load was astronomical. "Of course you have to remember there were no interruptions back in those days — no coffee breaks, no staff meetings."

MRS. HAZEL MILLER—44 years of teaching

Winning a child's confidence is the key to good teaching, Mrs. Miller said. But confidence is a two-way street. "You have to have confidence in the child before the child can return that confidence."

Mrs. Miller admitted she's a rather strict disciplinarian. "But children respect a certain amount of discipline," she said. "If they don't get it at home they'll challenge the teacher to see how far they can go before the teacher calls them down."

If Mrs. Miller admits to being a disciplinarian her principal Roger Miller would quickly reply with humanitarian.

Two examples

He offered two area cases in which Mrs. Miller played Santa Claus for children in need of food and clothing.

Children of a Tobyhanna family had been temporarily separated from their parents during last Christmas. Mrs. Miller fed the children at the Mount Pocono Diner, operated by she and her husband Cloyd. She gave them clothing and arranged baby sisters for them at home.

The other case, Miller said, was when she took food and clothing to a Long Pond family. "Children have every opportunity today in education," Mrs. Miller said. "And I try to give them all an equal opportunity."

Five teachers to retire at Pocono Mountain

SWIFTWATER — Five Pocono Mountain School District teachers will retire this school term with a total of 177 years of area teaching.

They are Mrs. Hazel Miller of Pocono Summit, with 44 years of teaching experience; James Lester Butz, Stroudsburg, 42 years; Miss Edna Elife of Canadensis, 41 years; Edith E. Hill of Blakeslee, 21 years, and Eleanor L. Mullen of Mountainhome, 29 years.

Mrs. Miller taught for 35 years the fifth and sixth grades at Coolbaugh Elementary Center, Tobyhanna. She graduated from East Stroudsburg State College.

James L. Butz

Edith E. Hill

Eleanor Mullen taught at Dickinson City for 13 years and 16 years in the Pocono Mountain School District. She graduated from ESSC and Marywood College.

Edith Hill taught 11 years in Hazleton City School District; three years in Wilmington, Del., and seven years in the Pocono Mountain School District. She graduated from Bloomsburg State Teachers College.

Latter-day Saints churchmen in area

STROUDSBURG — Sherrill F. Martin and Richard M. Hatch, missionaries of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, working in the Eastern Pennsylvania area, will forgo contact with home and family this year so they can bring their message of Christ in America to local residents.

"We find that during the summer season, people are especially interested in our message," said Elder Martin of Gaffney, S.C., who supervises missionary activities in this area. "Because this is a season when almost everyone gives special consideration to the spirit of liberty and freedom."

Elder Martin said one part of the Latter-day Saint message, which creates special interest is the description of the struggles for liberty and freedom by the descendants of Joseph, the same Joseph who was sold into Egypt, as they lived anciently in America. Their record, known as the Book of Mormon, tells that this land was given to Joseph and was later visited by Jesus Christ.

"The Book of Mormon is a history of God's dealings with this nation of people," continued Elder Martin. "It supports the account of the life and mission of Jesus Christ as given in the Bible, and reaffirms that peace and liberty today must come through Jesus Christ."

"This is the message presented in the annual Hill Cumorah Pageant, held each summer at Palmyra, New York," concluded Elder Martin.

Young men and women of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints voluntarily accept calls to serve as missionaries for periods of 18 months to two and one-half years. There is no professional clergy in the Latter-day Saint Church, therefore missionaries serve at their own expense. Education and training for future occupations is set aside until completion of their mission, which is looked upon by them as a privilege, not an obligation.

Area relief roles show expansion

(Record Harrisburg Bureau) HARRISBURG — The number of Monroe County residents on relief increased by two persons in March, climbing from the previous month's 673 to 675, Secretary of Public Welfare Dr. Thomas W. Georges, Jr., said yesterday.

As matters now stand, 1.5 per cent of the Monroe County population is receiving relief payments compared to 3.7 per cent on a statewide average.

At the same time the amount of money distributed to needy persons in the county decreased by $478 to $32,608.

In addition, payments to Monroe County medical institutions and to individuals in the healing arts professions for care of needy persons — many of them not on relief — totaled $20,262 during the month, compared to $21,751 in medicare payments in February.

With administration costs of $7,327 for the County Board of Assistance and $618 in burials, the Monroe County expenditures of public assistance funds reached $60,815 for the month, compared to $66,477 in February.

A total of 675 (673) were receiving cash assistance grants amounting to $32,608 ($33,086) covering old age assistance, $8,583 ($9,400); state blind pensions, $1,913 ($1,771); federal-state blind pensions, $2,705 ($2,503); aid to dependent children assistance, $13,689 ($13,127); general assistance, $2,637 ($2,049); and aid to disabled assistance, $3,082 ($3,436).

In the "vendor payments program" (with payment direct to the assistance agency rather than the individual recipient) 21 countians were receiving inpatient hospital care, $1,239 (28 receiving $9,757); 50 receiving care in county institutions, $10,360 (60 receiving $12,615).

Tiny court saves street for doctors

LONDON (AP) — Harley Street has been rescued from peanut shells and orange peels.

It can relax again, firm in its standing as Britain's elite medical center.

Its salvation was accomplished in a tiny magistrates' court.

The case involved a Harley Street doctor who attracted patients with a penchant for munching peanuts or sucking on oranges in the waiting rooms. The landlords said the debris was not befitting this area so his lease was being canceled. After testimony, the landlords relented on the guarantee that the patients would be policed by the surgeon and his staff.

The doctor's office in question isn't even in Harley Street—it's in Devonshire Place. But that is the mystique of Harley Street.

It is an area. It is a state of mind. British medicine, which lays claim to many pioneering advances for mankind, radiates out of what is commonly called Harley Street. The sector in London's Marylebone district encompasses 100 acres, about 1,500 highly reputed surgeons and specialists and a few lesser lights.

Most of the men in Harley Street are misters. This means they are members of the Royal College of Surgeons.

It all goes back to the days of the barber surgeons when barbers were handy with knife and scalpel for warts or some such thing. Then, they were called simply "mister" and the practicing medico was "doctor."

As surgeons came into prominence in the 19th century, they decided more or less tacitly to continue as "mister" and by now the anomaly of a mister being better than a doctor is firmly established.

The Broadhead Creek was turned into a raging river by three days of rain. This is a section along the Creek Road above Timber Hill. Several incidents of flooding were reported along the creek. (Photo by Grady)

Brodhead causes damage

County creeks near flood stage

STROUDSBURG — Flood fear was omnipresent throughout Monroe County Thursday, after three days of nearly continuous torrential rains swelled the area creeks.

Sporadic flooding occurred Wednesday and Thursday along a stretch of the Broadhead Creek which devastated portions of Monroe County in August, 1955.

The Broadhead Creek, several feet above its normal flow, washed out a 12-foot section of road leading into the Timber Hill Ski Area; flooded portions of the Evergreen Park Golf Course; flowed across the Penn Hills golf course.

While damage seemed at a minimum, Monroe County Commissioner Arlington "Bud" Martin sounded a warning that "time is running out again."

The minority Democratic Commissioner, a long time proponent of the Broadhead Creek flood control dams, toured the Paradise Valley area during a heavy downpour Wednesday.

"We definitely can't sit still and think we're not going to have another condition like in 1955," Martin said. "Time is running out again. We've had 13 years since this flood. This could be the year (for a recurring flood). It could be next year. We're going to get another one like it."

Martin, who took nearly one dozen pictures of the sporadic flooding conditions this week, will show them to the full Board of Commissioners which meets Monday morning.

C. A. "Phys" Nauman said that three holes at his Evergreen Park golf course were flooded Wednesday by two feet of water which spilled from an overflowing Broadhead Creek.

"The water at the golf course subsided Thursday morning, Nauman was fearful, however, that the rains later in the afternoon would again flood the course."

"What gets me," Nauman said, "these darn commissioners don't want to get those dams in." He said he doesn't know whether one hole at the Buck Hill Falls golf course is worth nine of his or not. The Broadhead Creek flood control project has been hampered since a dam is planned at Buck Hill Falls. The corporation would like the dam built in another location instead of on the golf course.

"If they would have built these dams 10 years ago like they should have, we wouldn't have this trouble," Nauman said.

"Chic" Daniels of Camp Swiftwater, said that the three days of rain raised the level of his lake by an additional two feet of water.

"The water was very high," Daniels said, "the highest since we've been here." Daniels has been there for eight years.

The rising creek waters caused no damage at Camp Swiftwater, "but we were really fearful," Daniels said.

The rainfall throughout Monroe County since Tuesday, ranged from about three inches to nearly 10.

Tobyhanna had three inches and Scotrun gauged 4.5 inches late Wednesday.

The weather bureau at Avoca Airport reported that rainfall throughout southeast Pennsylvania generally measured four to seven inches and went as high as eight to 10 inches.

The total of 21 days rain during May raised the official rain gauge to 420 inches in the area. The monthly rainfall was 3.95 inches before the torrential rains began Tuesday.

New York City received a total 4.83 inches of rain during the period, setting a new record for May. The all-time record New York City rainfall was set in October, 1903, with 11.17 inches.

The heavy rains in Monroe County, which stopped Thursday morning just long enough for Memorial Day services, caused rock and mud slides at Fox Town Hill, Wooddale section of Price Township, Interstate 80 and other sections.

Continuous showers and thundershowers were forecast throughout Thursday night.

Delaware Rivermaster Robert Fish said that the river waters crested 12.86 feet at 3 a.m. Thursday, at the Montague, N.J., station. This is 6.2 feet above normal. Fish said the rise was "medium." The river at Easton was 5.25 feet above normal.

Streams throughout the area were generally higher but none excessively, such as Broadhead.

The increased rainfall seemed to fall generally south from Pike County. The Milford area received 3.6 inches while nearby Barryville, N.Y., received about two inches and Hancock, N.Y., about one inch. Newfoundland, in Wayne County, reported a rainfall of four inches.

The Lehigh River at West Easton was 3.4 feet above the normal low.

STROUDSBURG — Mrs. Sarah C. Tucker, 46, of Valley View Terrace, Scranton, died Thursday in the Scranton State General Hospital after having been stricken Wednesday night.

Mrs. Tucker was born in Washington County, Ga., and moved to Stroudsburg eight years ago. She has lived in Scranton for the past two years.

Mrs. Tucker was a member of the Mineral Springs Baptist Church in Washington County, and attended the Christian Missionary Alliance Church in Stroudsburg. She had taught school in Georgia before moving to Stroudsburg.

Citizenship is stressed at Memorial Day services

CANADENSIS — Mount Pocono Attorney Peter J. O'Brien stressed a redefinition of citizenship in a Memorial Day speech Thursday at the Evans-Blitz American Legion Post 922, Canadensis.

O'Brien, Democratic assemblyman candidate in the 139th Rep. District, told an audience of 100 American Legion members, their friends and relatives that Memorial Day ceremonies are not just to commemorate the fallen dead but also constitute a celebration of citizenship.

"In the past it was always considered an honor to serve in the Armed Forces," O'Brien said. "But today it has become fashionable to chose the war in which one wants to serve." Again citing the past and present, O'Brien said it was once a fundamental concept of citizenship to respect duty constituted authority, but now it's fashionable for each citizen to become his own authority.

"There is a time and place for each aspect of citizenship," O'Brien said. "A time to learn, a time to serve, a time to elect, a time to govern, a time to participate and a time to await redress of petitions."

"Only when all citizens are made aware and understand our particular function as citizens can we assure that this one nation under God will remain indivisible," O'Brien said.

Rain stops for parade

STROUDSBURG — Gay colors under a warm sunny sky and the echo of muted bells offered a marked solemn contrast for the fallen dead in Thursday's Memorial Day Parade.

Even small children came under the spell of a dignified air that hung over more than 2,000 spectators lining the parade route from N. Courtland St. East Stroudsburg, to the statue of the World War One Doughboy in Stroudsburg.

The parade's highlight for the majority of an estimated 500 marchers was Congressman Fred B. Rooney's speech, during which he said the servicemen in Vietnam are building the future on hope as did their ancestors. The marchers drew the largest crowds at the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad station in East Stroudsburg and on the corner of Seventh and Main Streets, Stroudsburg.

As the four divisions of marchers started past the East Stroudsburg Area High School and under a light green canopy of shade trees the line of spectators ribboned up the sidewalks past large and small flags.

Marchers in the annual parade included: Police, United Veterans organizations, Vietnam Color Guard, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Cookies, Keystone Grenadiers, National Guard, Miss Poppy, Buddy Poppy Girl, post commanders, and cars with guests.

In the second parade division marchers included Knights of Columbus Color Guard, Stroudsburg High School Band, Stroud Township Fire Co., and auxiliary, girl scouts and a float.

The third division included the VFW Auxiliary Color Guard, East Stroudsburg High School Band, Boy Scouts.

In the final section Coles Color Guard marched with Shirlettes, Acme Hose Co., Barrett Township Fire Co., Bushkill Fire Co., Kunklestown Fire Co., Marshalls Creek Fire Co., Mount Pocono Fire Co., and the Shawnee Fire Co.

Several patients from the Cherry Valley Nursing Home, one on a stretcher and two in wheelchairs, were brought to Stroudsburg's Main Street Thursday to watch the Memorial Day Parade.

Theft of flags mars Barrett Twp. service

CANADENSIS — Memorial Day services Thursday at the American Legion Evans-Blitz Post 922, Canadensis, were highlighted by what most members termed "a fine patriotic down-to-earth speech" by Mount Pocono Attorney Peter J. O'Brien.

O'Brien, Democratic candidate for the 139th state representative district, faces Republican incumbent Rep. J. Russell Eschback for the tri-county representative seat in Harrisburg in November's elections.

Nothing marred the memorial services except perhaps the thought of 25 American flags stolen from a string of telephone poles between Marie's Drive In and The Forks in Mount Airy. The theft of the flags occurred sometime Wednesday night.

"If apprehended, the violator's will be prosecuted," said George Curnoles, Commander of American Legion Post 922.

Mrs. Laura Blitz and Mrs. Jenny Evans were honored as Gold Star Mothers. In other observances Robert Quinn, second vice commander, placed a wreath at the front of a white wooden cross in the memorial plot.

The Rev. Russell Walters, pastor of the United Methodist Keokee Chapel, Paradise Valley, gave the invocation.

The Rev. Andrew Maloney, pastor of Saint Bernadette's Roman Catholic Church, Canadensis, gave the benediction.

Pack 89 of the Barrett Township Cub Scouts led the Pledge of Allegiance and Pocono Mountain High School band director Russell Speicher led the singing of the national anthem.

A veteran of World War I, he was a charter member of the Thomas P. Lambert Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the World War I Veterans of Monroe County, both of Stroudsburg.

Surviving are his widow, Eva; two sons, Dr. Robert Nathan Brodsky, San Francisco, Calif., and Allan J. Brodsky, Pittsburgh; two brothers, Max and Irving, both of Brooklyn, N. Y., and five grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 11:30 a.m. today at B'Nai Abraham Memorial Park, Union, N. J.

Friends paid their respects at the William H. Clark Funeral Home Thursday night.

Burial will be in the B'Nai Abraham Memorial Park Cemetery.

Memorial donations may be made to the General Hospital of Monroe County Building Fund.

Speaks of 'hope, love, flag'

Rooney turns old fashioned

STROUDSBURG — "America, more than any other nation in the world's history, was founded on hope and very little else," Rep. Fred B. Rooney told a Memorial Day crowd at Monroe County's court house square Thursday morning.

Rooney, who flew by helicopter to the Third Street Playground to fill the speaking engagement, was the number one speaker on a program that directly followed the annual Memorial Day Parade, which ended at the Doughboy Monument.

Speaking from the court house steps, Rooney said, "Hope — like love of one's country, pride in its flag or loyalty between men or men and their nation — is the sort of word a speaker doesn't use today, seriously, without risk of being called old fashioned."

"I will accept that risk," Rooney said emphatically. "If belief in the fundamental earliest principles of this nation means that I am 'old fashioned,' then, indeed, that is what I must be."

"The men who came here had no vast amount of money. They owned no real property. They were not empire builders or servants of a world conqueror. They knew the value of one thing alone — and that was 'hope.' And it was all the more precious to them because they had not dared to hope for so many years."

"They sailed from many

lands, carrying with them many traditions and languages and religious beliefs. They were not giants. They were ordinary men and women. But, they became extraordinary in America."

Rooney emphasized. The congressman of the 15th District continued, "They were gifted with determination and devotion — devotion to the idealistic concept of individual liberty. They believed that men could be free. They believed that decent, intelligent men could govern themselves. They believed that each man could contribute something intellibly his own to the collective good of a community, a state and a nation."

"At the heart of each of these beliefs there lies the hope that man has a dignity of his own, a soul and a spirit from which they could build a country with the soul and spirit it needed to survive.

"I do not think it asks too much of us to ask that we have the same kind of hope, the same kind of faith and devotion that men such as Patrick Henry or Thomas Jefferson had in humanity and in America."

"These men recognized the importance of military strength if their dreams for a nation of free men were to be achieved. Then, military strength was required to win freedom for the colonies."

"The men and women we eulogize on this Memorial Day died in the exercise of their nation's responsibility of leadership. They died because they shared the hope that through their nation's exercise of its responsibility the world could and would realize cessation of hostilities and then individual peoples of the world could and would live together in peace."

"They were not concerned that this hope might be considered 'old fashioned.' They were proud to have an old fashioned love for country, an old fashioned spirit of patriotism and an old fashioned dedication to ideals of liberty and justice, if indeed these were old fashioned."

"Yet, our servicemen and women always have dreamed of their families, their wives or husbands and children, parents, sisters, and brothers, their homes, their towns, their nation and how it was going to be tomorrow," Rooney stated.

The speaker then connected our forces in Vietnam with hope for the future of the world and halting the spread of Communism in Asia.

"Our eulogies are not enough. We owe them far more," Rooney stated in conclusion.

Joseph H. Small, Burgess of Stroudsburg, was the master of ceremonies for the program, and Thomas L. Kistler, mayor of East Stroudsburg, introduced a lengthy list of guests.

The guests included Judge Arlington W. Williams, District Attorney Phillip H. Williams; Commissioners Mrs. Nancy Shukaitis, Elwood Hintze and Arlington W. Martin; Elmer D. Christine, county solicitor, and Howard F. Doll, county veterans' officer.

The veterans organizations placed a wreath at the base of the Doughboy Monument, with taps in the immediate area of Courthouse Square and a second series from a block away. Three rounds of shots were also fired over the statue.

Rev. Samuel A. Huffard of the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church, delivered the invocation and Father John Bendik of St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church, presented a "Prayer for Peace." Attorney Edwin Krawitz delivered the benediction in behalf of Temple Israel.

Hotel worker arrested on dope charge

BETHLEHEM — A Pocono Mountain resort employee was apprehended Thursday at 1 a.m. and charged with the possession of and intent to sell some 80 packets of marijuana at his home in Bethlehem by Bethlehem city police.

Walter Sipkes, 20, of 1708 Linden St., pleaded guilty to the charge after police found the drug in the trunk of his car under the spare tire and admitted that the 80 packets bought at a cost of $360 would have netted a value of $1,200 after sale.

Employed as a bushboy, Sipkes was committed to Northampton County Jail.

Five-month-old Edward Transue was also brought to town to watch the parade, but he was not as impressed as some of the other spectators and he decided to take a snooze. (Staff Photos by MacLeod)

Darr top athlete at East Stroudsburg

EAST STROUDSBURG — Dave Darr, winner of four varsity letters this past school year, was named the best all-around athlete at the East Stroudsburg High all-sports banquet Wednesday night in the cafeteria.

Darr, who lettered in football, wrestling, track and baseball, was presented the top trophy by athletic director Jack Kist. Darr was also named the most valuable football player and received a National Athletic Scholarship Society Award.

Others to receive awards from the Varsity E Club for being most valuable were Mary Wydra and Sandy Talasz, cheerleader; Sandra Mosher, girl's basketball; John Hood, golf and basketball; Barry Chighizola, baseball; Larry Gordon, track; Brian DeLuca, wrestling; and Charles Wolbers, swimming.

In addition to Darr, others receiving National Athletic Scholarship Awards were Tim Bowman, Paul Miller, Rick Mosher, Tom Choy, Hood, Dale Hughes, Joe Garvia, Terry Millard, Charles Wolber and DeLuca.

Each of the coaches was introduced and read off the names of the letter and certificate winners. Coaches on hand included Mrs. Lois Fritz, cheerleaders; Mrs. Sally Seip, girl's basketball; Jack Kist, Mike Evans, baseball; Dirty Krick, track; Don Rich, swimming; Dick Merring, wrestling and football; Chick Daniels, basketball; Doug Schoonover, freshman basketball; Ed Christian, junior varsity basketball; Jim Reynolds, freshman football, and Horace Cole, junior varsity football.

Another highlight of the night was the awarding of the Lehigh-Northampton Golf League championship trophy by Kist to team captain John Hood. The Cavaliers have won the title three straight years.

Guest speaker was Jim Ringo, ironman of the National Football League, who recently retired after 15 years of play. Ringo said "the athlete is supposed to be the leader. You (the students) represent our future. It is up to you to undo what has been done."

"Sports is something that can't be obtained in the classroom. It's something that no one is able to put into a book." The Phillipsburg, N. J., native listed the following things as a must to be a successful athlete: confidence, develop character, poise, competitiveness, pride (the backbone of life), will to win, humility, humbleness, fear, equal opportunity and religion.

Cummings Piatl gave the invocation and also awarded the Athletic Scholarship Awards. Paul Bartholomew acted as toastmaster.

McDowell hurls four-hitter; Horton drives in all 3 runs

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. Paul (UPI)—Tony Horton drove in all three Cleveland runs with a homer and single Thursday to back Sam McDowell's four-hitter and carry the Indians to a 3-1 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

Horton hit his fifth homer of the year, a 370-footer to right field, in the third inning with Jose Cardenal aboard to break a 1-1 tie and McDowell allowed only two hits after the first inning to protect his sixth victory against three losses.

Sudden Sam, who retired 13 of the last 14 batters to face him, struck out nine men to raise his American League-leading total to 103. Jim Kaat suffered the loss to even his record at 2-2. The victory moved Cleveland into third place in the American League ahead of the Twins.

Larry Brown opened the game with a pop double to left, which Bob Allison dropped after a long run. Brown took third on

Mantle's 5-for-5 paces Yanks

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mickey Mantle went 5-for-5 for the third time in his career, including his 523rd and 524th homers, Thursday in pacing the New York Yankees to a 13-4 victory over Washington but the Senators won the second game 6-2 with a barrage of three homers.

Mantle, who didn't play in the second game, raised his average from .223 to .254 while knocking in five runs and scoring three. It was the first time in over a decade Mantle had turned in the 5-for-5 feat. He did it in 1955 in Washington and in 1956 in Detroit.

Mantle's first homer was a two-run shot in the first inning and his second homer led off the fifth inning. He singled and scored a run in the third, knocked in a run with a ground-rule double during a two-run uprising in the sixth and singled in a run during a six-run outburst in the eighth inning.

The Yankees' first-game victory stretched their winning streak to five straight but Camillo Pascual, with ninth-inning relief help from Darold Knowles, brought the win skein to an end in the second game.

Sofa homers by Fred Valentine, Ed Stroud and Bernie Allen led the Senators to the triumph. Valentine hit his in the fourth and Stroud—who had one in the first game—in the fifth inning off Yankee starter and loser Fred Talbot, now 0-6.

Allen connected off Jim Bouton in the seventh inning.

Koosman, Selma hurl Mets to sweep

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Rockie Jerry Koosman scored his eighth victory of the season and unbeaten Dick Selma posted his fourth in a row Thursday as the New York Mets beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-3 and 5-4.

Ed Kranepool drove in his first two runs of the season with a single that highlighted a three-run Met rally in the third inning of the first game and Ron Swoboda hit a two-run double and Art Shamsky a two-run triple when the Mets rallied for five runs in the fifth inning of the second game.

Kranepool delivered his two-run single off Jim Bunning in his 84th at bat this season after the Mets filled the bases on a single by Shamsky and walks to J. C. Martin and Kevin Collins. Tommie Agee followed with a single that scored Collins and gave the Mets a 4-0 lead.

Koosman, now 8-2, carried a four-hit shutout into the eighth inning but was knocked out when the Pirates scored two runs on a walk, singles by Manny Mota and Joe Pagan and Roberto Clement's double.

Willie Stargell's two-run homer in the first inning staked Bob Veale to a 2-0 lead in the second game but the big left-hander was routed when the Mets scored all five of their runs with two out in the fifth inning.

Singles by Don Busch and Cleon Jones started the rally and both scored on Swoboda's towering fly which fell for a double close to the right field wall. Jerry Grote singled home Swoboda to put THE Mets in front and Ed Charles' single kayaked Veale. Shamsky completed the rally when he hit reliever Ron Kline's first pitch off the right field screen for a two-run triple.

Singles by Bill Mazeroski, Remy May, Manny Jimenez and Matty Alou cut the Mets' lead to 5-4 in the seventh before reliever Billy Short retired Maury Lillis and Stargell to end the threat.

BIDDING QUIZ

You are the dealer, both sides vulnerable, and have opened One Spade. Partner responds Three Spades. What would you bid now with each of the following four hands?

1. ♠AK852 ♥93 ♦AKJ4 ♣K10
2. ♠AKJ4 ♥AQ743 ♦92 ♣86
3. ♠KQ7643 ♥5 ♦7 ♣AKJ54
4. ♠KJ882 ♥AQ5 ♦A3 ♣AJ8

1. Four diamonds. There is a reasonable prospect of a slam, and the best way of investigating the possibility is by bidding four diamonds. Partner is expected to have 13 to 15 points and adequate trump support for his jump raise. However, opposite our 17-point hand, points are not as important an issue as suit controls. Thus, partner may have any one of these three hands for his bid:

1. ♠KJ94 ♥AQ72 ♦83 ♣A83
2. ♠K9743 ♥AJ10 ♦Q7 ♣Q85
3. ♠K963 ♥QJ64 ♦7 ♣AQ92

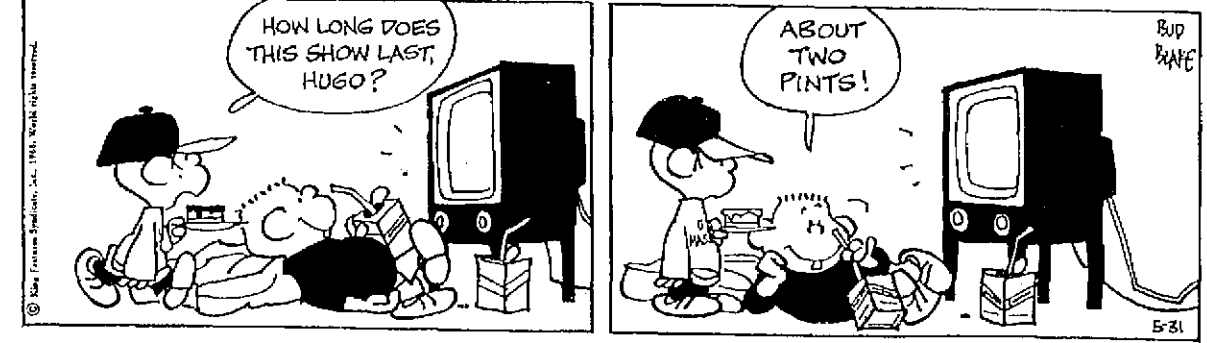

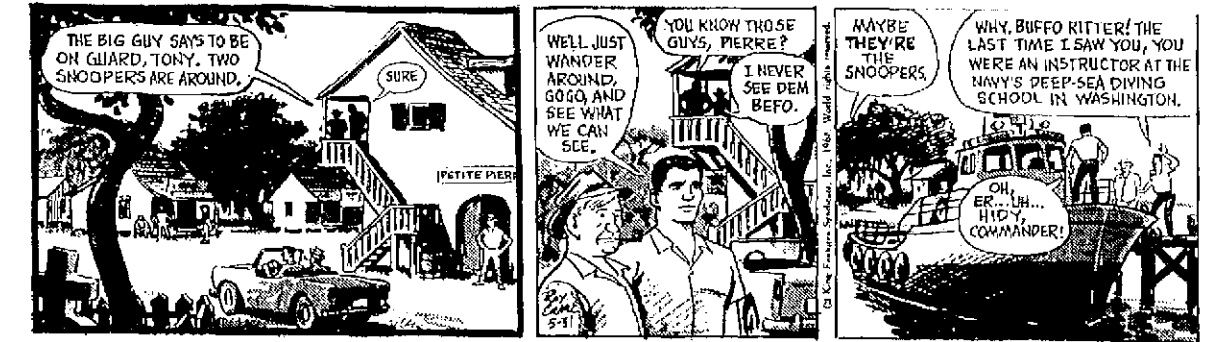

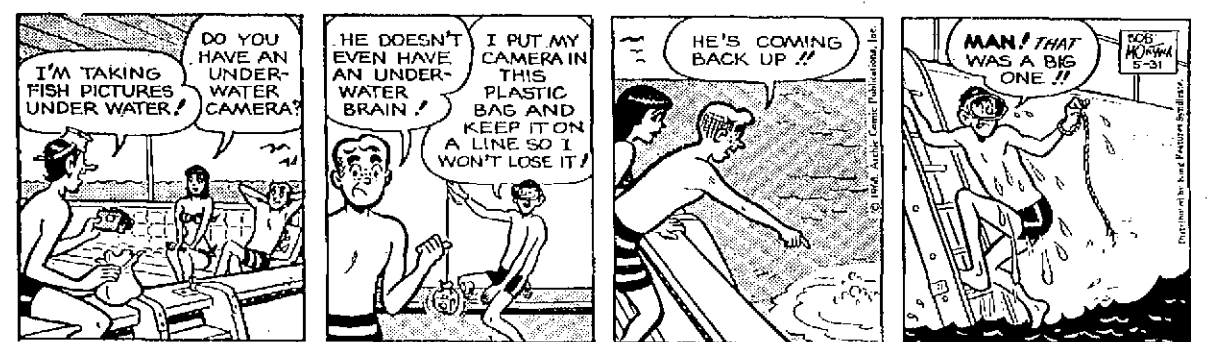

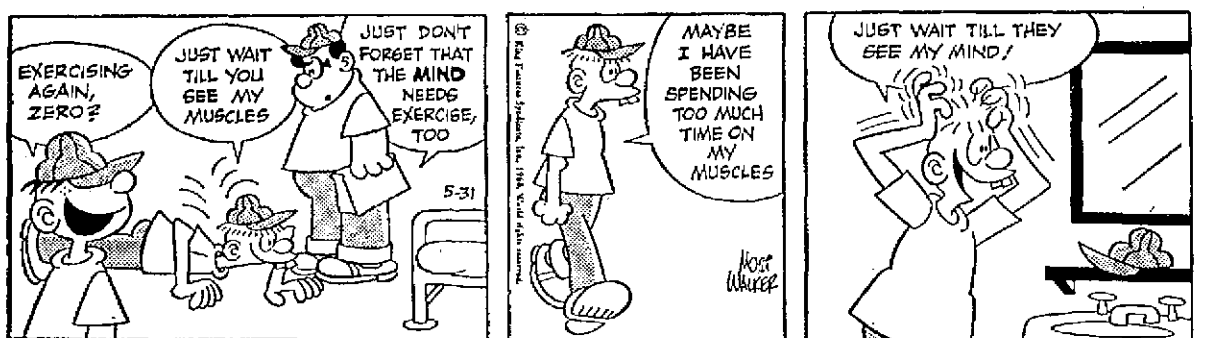

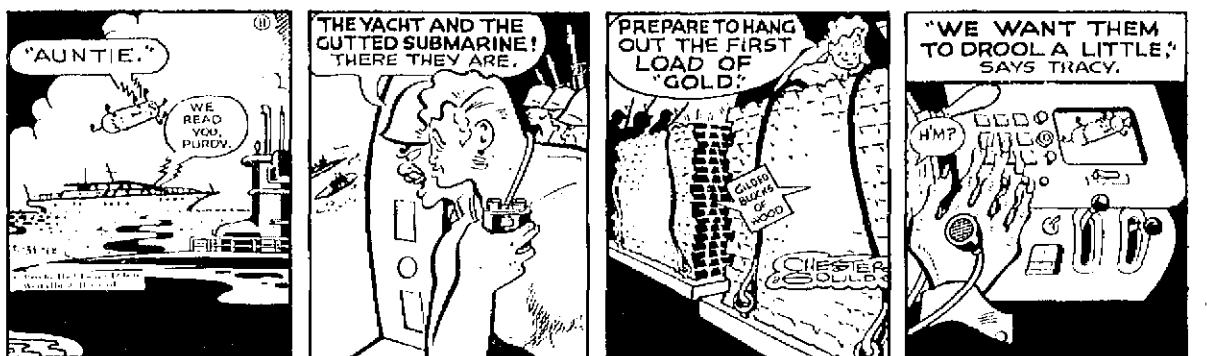

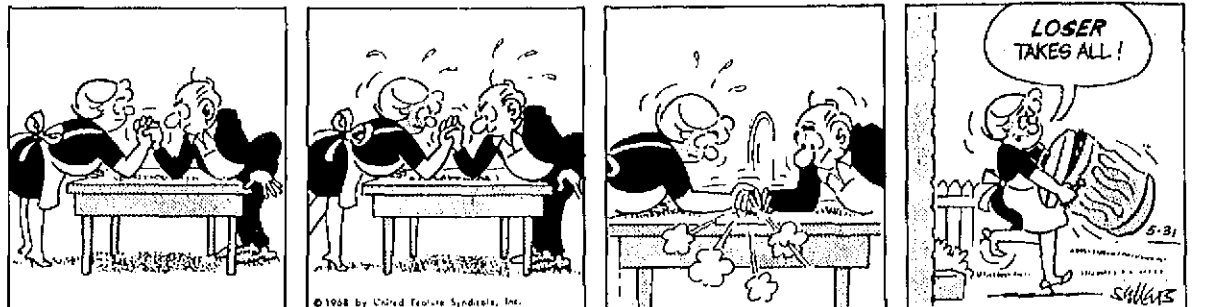

With the first two hands he would bid four hearts over four diamonds—since he could not afford to go into the five level to show the club ace—and a bad slam would be avoided. Blackwood is generally avoided with hands where specific suit control is a dominant factor. The cuebid method is used instead.

2. Four spades. A rebid of four hearts would be a slam try, just as in the previous hand. Since a slam with this minimum opening bid is out of the question, we close the bidding with four spades. (Partner is known to have at least four trumps for his jump raise.)

3. Four notrump. Here we use Blackwood because the number of aces partner has tells us exactly how many tricks can be made. If partner responds five spades (three aces), we bid seven; with a response of five diamonds (one ace), we bid five.

4. Six spades. Here we employ the direct method without invoking ceremonies of any kind. The quantitative leap to six is very likely to produce the best result. Considering that we have a balanced type of hand (no void or singleton), point count can be used to good advantage. The 19 high-card points, the guaranteed spade fit, and the first or second round control of all suits, strongly indicate a sound play for slam.
